Vol. XV No 4,527.

To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune—Siz: Through the medium of your valuable paper I would beg to a minimize to the public a case of extreme distress and trouble which came to my knowledge a few days ago, viz: About four weeks since a family, conclusing of husband, wite and four children, arrived from England and two days afterward the husband died, leaving his family entirely destinct. The mother's health is so impaired that she is quite unable to provide for herself and children. All the circumstances of their condition, which is one of great destitution may be ascerained by inquiring of Mrs. SAPAH PALLER, NO. 210 Sullivan-et, in the rear. That some patrons may contibute to relieve this family is the hope of your obedient servant, MRS. GREEN, NO. 235 Sullivan et.

From The Pennsylvanian. "This is one of the best works of the gifted anthoress. The scenes of domestic life are all drawn with such force as to leave an unfailing impression upon the mind of the reader, that they are vivid realities." From The Detroit Evening Tribune. "The simple, glowing force of the style and straightforward narrative enhance the breathless interest of the story. There are charming pictures of country life in the mountains and several characters, each one of which might form the staple of a novel. The apple gathering and corn-husking frolic, with other scenes on the farm, are pistures containing a world of hearty life, and will be richly enjoyed by all who remembe the good old times."

From The Detroit Advertises

"The reader is fain to laugh as well as to weep, with the pages of the Old Homestead before him. There is a charm amounting almost to magic in the writings of Mrs. Stephens which claims the attention and de ights the heart. She will find readers in abundance wherever the language is spoken." From The Boston Olive Branch. Many of the scenes are laid in the humble walks of life, and all the author's fine descriptive powers are brought to bear upon them. The comfortless room where the gld watcher waits for her dying father—where they meet at last in his death-hour, and part forever; the simple but cheerful home of Chester; the long night at Bellevue; the solemn burial, with only those two lonely children for mourners; and the exquisite picture of life combined with the skill of the artist."

FOUR THOUSAND SOLD in TEN DAYS.—
It is a rare thing for a Biography to sell as rapidly as the "crack" novel of the season. But the sale of the Memoir of A MOS LAWREN CE has fully equaled, it is balleved, that of any recent fictitious work. Four thousand copies have been sold in teu days. The successive editions are exhausted before new ones can be supplied, so great is the demand for the work.

It is the cheapest book of the kind yet issued from the American press.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE, 1855-6.—

THE TRIBUNE is now in the middle of its fideward year; vol XV. of its weekly issue commenced on the its of Sectember last. The American public need not now be made acquainted with its character or claims to consideration. With how a subordinate regard for prudonce, policy or popularity, it has simed to stant for Righteonames, for Truth, for Humanity, against fortified Injury. Frand and Oppression. There is not a slave rader on this Continent, though he may never read anything but his bills of sale and notes payable, who does not know and hate THE TRIBUNE; there is not an extensive febricator of drugged and potential dispures who does not consider it a very dangerous and immeral paper, and wonder why its publication is tolerated in a com nervelal cotton-buying. City like New York. The Newark Meacutay once foreiby remarked that it had never known a hand, griping, screwing, avaricious employer who was not hostile to THE TRIBUNE, nor one eminently senerous and kindly who did not like it. Prompt and plain-spoken is its demonciations of iniquity and shuess of power, while claiming to employ in individuals, but it has never been unfaithful to Principle, nor dear to the crite of the wronged and suffering. In its columns the advocates of novel and unpopular theories contemplating the melionation of human woes, especially those of the volce-ess and downstroder, have ever found and subject and hospitality; while their articular in the columns the advocates of novel and unpopular theories contemplating the melionation of human woes, especially those of the volce-ess and downstroder, have ever found and incompation of words and hospitality; while of the arrival of the arrival and the production. speedy absorption therein of the whole force of Pro-Slavery Whighm, only centified one missubstim anticipations. With no sickly lamentations, therefore, for the inevitably bygone, but with hope, and joy, and sympathy, and words of cheer, have we halled the beginning and watched the progress of that mighty RFPUBLICAN movement which, impelled by the perfidious violation of the Missouri Compact, and stimulated by the astounding outrages whereof the rights of the Free Settlers of Kansas have been the victims—by the repeated and utter vitiation of their elections by an armed mob collected by conspiracy and hurled suddenly upon them from the border counties of the neighboring Slave State, is desthed to sweep away the landmarks of old party feuds, and units the true hearts and strong arms of the free souled in one mighty effort to confine the securge and scandal of our country within the limits of the States which unwisely uphold it. To the success of this effort, the energies of THE TRIBUNE will be stemly devoted; while the TEMPERANCE REFORM, including the entire suppression of the Traffic in Intoricating Beverages, will find in it, as hitherto, an earnest and unflinching champion.

Commencing as a daily folio sheet or moderate size, and with scarcely a shadew of patronage. THE TRIBUNE is now issued in quarto form Dailty (three distinct solitions), Strait Weikely and Weikely, on a sheet 4 by 3 inches, eight ampice pages of six columns each. Its circulation has steadily grown from nothing to the following aggregates:

Dally issues (evening and morning). 29,500 copies.

Dally issues (evening and morning) ... 29,300 copies.
Semi-Weekly ... 136,500 ...
California edition ... 6,000 ...

We believe no other newspaper in the world has a subscription list over half so large as this; and no periodical of any sort can rival it. And while its extreme cheapness rendering an increase of paying readers only as indirect pecuniary advantage to us, has doubtless largely swelled its subscription list, it would be absurdity not to perceive in this unprecedented patronage some evidence of public approval and esteem.

TERMS.

THE TRIBUNE employs no traveling sgents and sends out ne papers on trust. If it is not not stopped when the term paid for expires, and the subscriber does not choose further to pay for it, we resort to no legal process to compel him. On the Weekly, we mean to stop every paper on the expiration of the advance payment, awaiting a fresh remittance from the subscriber. If none comes, the account is closed. We pay no local agents; wish no money paid to any whom the payer cannot trust him is mail or otherwise send it to us; once mailed, its safety is at our risk, (and a serious risk it often proves) but are grateful to every one who deems it a good work to obtain and forward the names and money of his friends and neighbors. Our terms invariably streetfer the
